The KP/KG PTA is pleased to host Nick Sales from Save the Kids for our final event in the parents speaker series.

Nick owns a video production company where he works with some of the top YouTubers and social media influencers in the world. His videos have gained over a billion views. He has seen first-hand how social media can inspire others, but he has also seen it destroy lives.

Most parents are unaware of what their kids are actually doing with their devices, and in this presentation, Nick will instruct parents on how to teach their kids about screens, technology, social media, and the internet.
